Downtown Development Neighborhood Renewal Capacity Building

BILLY PARRISH

Billy Parrish is Principal and Senior Downtown Advisor of BillyParrish Consulting, a small niche consulting practice focused in the areas of downtown and neighborhood development. Billy is a capacity builder and downtown catalyst who helps local governments and nonprofit organizations develop strategies and specific projects that further the redevelopment goals of their downtown or neighborhood commercial areas.

Billy has over 33 years experience in downtown redevelopment, nonprofit management and housing development. Billy was the first downtown development director in Rome Georgia and, with solid local public and private sector leadership, saw that Rome was designated one of the first 30 Main Street® programs in the U.S. Billy was recruited away from Rome by the National Main Street program where he worked to establish State Main Street® Programs in over 650 cities in 35 states. Prior to returning to Georgia Billy served as the Director of the National Main Street Center.

In 1990 Billy returned to Georgia and worked in the areas of educational renewal, historic preservation and workforce housing development. From 2002 through 2012 Billy worked in the areas of downtown and community development with the Georgia Department of Community Affairs. In early 2013 Billy launched his own consulting practice and has to date worked on projects and services in the Georgia cities of Augusta, Brunswick, Covington, Dahlonega, Dublin, Eatonton, Greensboro, Macon, Madison, Powder Springs, Sugar Hill and Toccoa, as well as provided advanced training to the Alabama Main Street program. At the 2013 Georgia Downtown Conference Billy delivered the highly-praised closing address, Where Main Street Meets Market Demand, as well as two ground-breaking economic development sessions covering The New Community Initiated Development Approach© to downtown development.

A regular contributor to the Georgia Municipal Association's "People Place Purpose" blog, and Chair of the Dunwoody Sustainability Commission, Billy brings a unique combination of vision and in-depth experience across a wide array of community development initiatives, downtown and neighborhood development skills, community capacity building and process management.

Richard A. Krisak
Chief Operating Officer
MARTA

Richard A. Krisak is the Chief Operating Officer (COO) for the Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority (MARTA), the ninth largest transit system in North America where he served as Assistant General Manager of Rail Operations & Development from 2007 to 2012, and Interim Deputy General Manager from 2012 to 2013. Richard is responsible for the oversight of the Authority's day-to-day operations with the objective of providing efficient, safe and reliable transit service to the public. His core responsibilities include the direction and oversight of the Authority's Bus Maintenance & Transportation, Rail Maintenance & Transportation, Paratransit, Engineering & Development, Maintenance of Way, Infrastructure and Vertical Transportation. Richard's duties also include building and maintaining relationships with the Authority's external stakeholders including both government entities and the business community.

Richard is a senior level transit executive with an extensive and diverse career, expanding over thirty-three years in rail transit encompassing planning, design, construction and operations. He has worked with various rail modes including light rail, heavy rail, streetcar, commuter rail and freight. Richard has practical experience in operating rail service under both the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) and State Safety Oversight regulatory schemes. Richard has managed the development of safety programs and related documentation for three new startup light rail operations including Dallas, Houston and Austin. He has also managed the preparation, submittal and negotiation of an FRA Joint Use Waiver Application to provide passenger service with non-compliant European equipment. In addition to his strong operating credentials, Richard has an extensive development background. He has a sou₋₁₆₉₋owledge of rail transit design guidelines,

#M.7. standards and industry practice. Richard holds a Bachelor's degree in Urban Planning from Cleveland State University.

Richard is well respected in the industry and his expertise is frequently sought out to provide advice, assistance and leadership. He is currently a member of the FRA Rail Safety Advisory Committee (RSAC) Engineering Task Force that developed the newly adopted alternate compliant Tier I equipment standards. He is the past chair of the APTA Light Rail Vehicle Standard Specification subcommittee and is currently the chair of the APTA Light Rail Technical Forum. Richard was appointed by Mr. Ray LaHood, former Secretary of Transportation, to serve on the Transit Rail Advisory Committee for Safety (TRACS); this committee is tasked with the responsibility of providing the Administration with recommendations to improve rail transit safety.

Rich grew up in a transit family; his father, relatives and extended family were employed for many years in his hometown of Cleveland, Ohio by the Greater Cleveland Regional Transit Authority (GCRTA) and its predecessor companies. He is currently a member of the Southeastern Railway Museum Board of Trustees.
