Mary H. Michael

Managing Principal

B.L.A. Landscape Architecture - University of Georgia School of Environmental Design

Registered Landscape Architect, Georgia

Certified Playground Safety Inspector, National Recreation and Parks Association

Member GA Tree Council

The Managing Principal of LMS, Mary Michael, has extensive experience in landscape architecture design, construction and project management. She has worked with and for many communities in developing concepts for public spaces and facilitating public/private initiatives in community enhancement projects.

Ms. Michael has over 30 years of design experience, primarily in Georgia, and has designed and managed projects in Boston, MA, Alexandria, VA, and Columbia, SC. Ms. Michael's experience in managing parks, landscape and streetscape projects for the City of Atlanta and the City of Sandy Springs have provided unparalleled knowledge of long term maintenance and the value of thoughtful, comprehensive design of public spaces.

Design development, construction drawings, specifications, site grading and on-site supervision are a few of the areas of expertise that Ms. Michael brings to her work. Additional expertise in playground design and certification as a Playground Safety Inspector makes Ms. Michael more aware of the security and safety concerns of all her projects.

- Led the planning, programming, project development, design, and construction administration of projects at several schools of medicine, including Emory University, Vanderbilt University, Medical College of Georgia, Medical University of South Carolina, University of Alabama Birmingham and University of Kentucky as well as the Auburn University School of Veterinary Medicine. Projects included a new School of Public Health, dental schools, interdisciplinary research buildings, animal facilities, necropsy and gross anatomy labs, imaging facilities, new interdisciplinary research centers and departments, and clinical facilities embedded in teaching hospitals.
- Successfully assisted Vanderbilt University School of Medicine and the University of Kentucky School of Medicine with NIH and NSF grant proposals.
- Provided internal project management and quality control for capital projects at Duke University School of Medicine and UNC Chapel Hill School of Medicine.
- Designed numerous laboratories for Georgia Research Alliance Eminent Scholars located at several research universities throughout the state of Georgia.
- As corporate Director of Employee Development, collateral responsibilities included the recruitment and retention of all technical staff; development of a performance management system; creation of mentoring and professional education programs; and chair of the firm's compensation committee responsible for establishing salaries, raises and supplemental compensation packages.
- Proven sales and marketing executive successfully developing long-term mutually beneficial relationships and business from new and existing clients.
- Regular presenter at national and international conferences including SCUP, AIA, GAPPA, PKAL, SEFA and Tradeline.

American Intercontinental University; Atlanta, GA (1994-2000)

- Adjunct faculty member and part-time instructor focused on educating and mentoring aspiring interior designers.

Georgia Institute of Technology; Atlanta, GA (2006 – present)

- Instructor for GT1000: Freshman Seminar Class (Fall 2015, 2016, 2018) – GT1000 Instructor of the Year, Fall 2018
- Instructor for Graduate Class, ARCH 8833: Construction Technology (& Design Integration) (Spring 2018, Spring 2019)
- Guest Lecturer for master's degree classes in Architecture, Building Construction and Facilities Management, including Professional Practice, Management of Design and numerous other classes
- Design Critic/Juror for numerous College of Architecture studio reviews, including the Portman Prize jury

CAREER HIGHLIGHTSStrategic Leadership and Collaboration

- Lead the strategic integrated campus master planning, design, construction, facilities development, operations, safety, project management and implementation of comprehensive 6-year $1.5B Capital Improvement Plan for new construction, renovations, landscape and utility infrastructure projects, holistically integrating academic priorities, facilities, fiscal stewardship and campus safety. Many of these projects have won local, regional, national and international design awards.

Howard S. Wertheimer, FAIA, LEED AP, AUA

5177 Stratham Drive
Atlanta, Georgia 30338

- Improved decision-making process for qualification-based selection for design and construction professionals for all capital projects
- Introduced the concept of identifying Faculty Shepherds for all capital projects, improving communication, collaboration and decision making with faculty stakeholders
- Implemented a new enterprise software system to manage and improve campus space allocation, space utilization, database management, classroom scheduling, event management and logistics planning, improving overall space management utilization, optimization and efficiencies
- Enhanced collaborations with Institute Communications to improve timing and quality of information and data shared with external sources
- Key leader in developing a $25M off-campus Library Resource Center in collaboration with Emory University to decant 95% of our collections from our central library while renewing the existing library, doubling the number of seats for scholarly research while reducing overall energy consumption by 2/3's
- Significant collaborator and/or leader of numerous campus-wide committees, including Planning & Design Commission, Executive Planning & Design Commission, Space Committee, Capital Projects, Real Estate Development, Renewable Energy Master Planning, Task Force of Classroom and Academic Scheduling, Academic and Research Space Assessment Task Force, Diversity & Inclusion Event Planning Committee, Universal Design & Accessibility Committee, Facility Director's Committee, Landscape Committee, Arts Advisory Board, Bicycle Infrastructure Improvement Committee, Georgia Tech Facilities Inc., Living Building Challenge Executive Oversight Committee, Campus Center Executive Oversight Committee, and more
- Developed deep, meaningful, trusting and collaborative relationships internally and externally to successfully advance the Institute's mission and strategic campus-wide initiatives
- Mentor and inspire others to achieve extraordinary results in pursuit of achieving an inclusive culture of 'One Georgia Tech'
- Campus liaison to the State Board of Regents Facilities Advisory Board, Midtown Alliance EcoDistrict Advisory Council, City of Atlanta Department of Watershed Management and several other community organizations

Business Acumen and Fiscal Stewardship

- Developed and managed strategies and processes for improved integrated capital and campus planning and development, including budget development for cost of ownership, energy conservation, use of renewable energy technologies, operations, maintenance and campus safety
- Developed foundational master plans and sector plans to inform and prioritize physical infrastructure and campus investment strategies
- Developed tripartite cost management quality control methodology for all capital projects, significant renovations and landscape projects to deliver all projects on time and under budget, while maximizing program functionality, operational efficiencies, design excellence and return on investment
- Piloting the use of a 5D software tool integrating 3D BIM modeling that includes cost estimating, life cycle cost analysis, sustainability, constructability and schedule performance to improve decision making, cost management and project delivery
- Developed comprehensive financial planning tools to gain financial support for all state funded and privately financed capital projects

Howard S. Wertheimer, FAIA, LEED AP, AUA

5177 Stratham Drive
Atlanta, Georgia 30338

- Key member of Administration and Finance Decision Support Group focused on providing strategic insight and analysis of new campus-wide strategic and mission-critical initiatives such as tuition increases, new academic and research programs, MOOC's and enrollment growth
- Assist in the oversight of the Institute's green revolving fund, focused on investing in sustainability and environmental projects with short to mid-range ROI's that reduce energy consumption, carbon footprint and operating expenses
- Conduct monthly meetings with the Office of Development to support, identify, improve and solicit philanthropic opportunities and donor support
- Co-principal investigator on $11.6M National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) grant, providing strategic oversight ensuring compliance with all Federal requirements

Operational:

- Provide aesthetic oversight and campus curation of most things visually exposed, including all vertical construction, interiors, landscape, hardscape and public art
- Improved communication and project management efficiencies between facilities staff and institutional stakeholders and user representatives for all visioning, planning, design, construction and operational activities, building and sustaining a high-performance service organization
- Manage and lead integrated planning function, successfully collaborating with the executive leadership team, budget office, real estate and financial services to establish and deliver services and projects that are aligned with institutional priorities
- Engaged operations and maintenance staff and campus police in the capital planning and design process of significant renovations, building renewals, new construction and landscape projects to maximize these assets while minimizing the cost of operations, maintenance, energy consumption and ownership while improving overall campus safety
- In collaboration with operations and maintenance leadership, expanded zone maintenance facilities and support spaces, including service vehicle parking, to improve overall operational efficiencies
- Initiated monthly facility director's meetings with representatives from each college, school, and supporting unit, including campus safety, fire marshal, environmental health and safety, sustainability, campus services, operations and maintenance, student life, athletics, and parking & transportation
- Developed instructional space dashboard and heat map highlighting space utilization for 170 centrally scheduled classrooms
- Lead the strategic planning analysis for release of backfill space to improve overall space utilization
- In collaboration with the President, Chief of Police and other senior administrators, provide support to the Student Government Association (SGA) in leading an annual campus safety walk, identifying and resolving student-identified campus safety concerns
- Developed an ADA Transition Plan to ensure compliance with local, state and federal codes and laws, while improving the communication and engagement process with the State Fire Marshal
- Facilitated the development of comprehensive operations and budgeting plans for cost of ownership for significant capital projects
- Lead the annual development of rolling 6-year Capital Improvement Plan

Visionary and Innovative Thinker

- Leveraged Georgia Tech's Planning & Design Commission by introducing innovative qualification-based architect and contractor selection processes for capital projects to improve decision-making, aesthetic and functional performance with qualitative results
- Led the development of almost 3M square feet of LEED certified/certifiable buildings, including the development of a cistern master plan and stormwater master plan to reduce the use of potable water for non-potable needs
- Leading the development of the Living Building at Georgia Tech (officially named the Kendeda Building for Innovative Sustainable Design), anticipated to be one of the most sustainable buildings on a college campus while helping to transform the design and construction industry in the southeast
- Successfully advocated for Georgia Tech to sign the American College and University President's Climate Commitment (ACUPCC), providing subsequent leadership to advance comprehensive campus-wide sustainability initiatives, including the formation of the office of environmental stewardship (now called the Office of Campus Sustainability)
- Created framework and strategies for campus-wide sustainability initiatives and implementation, including sustainable building design and construction, energy conservation, single stream game-day recycling, stormwater management, water harvesting and blackwater reclamation feasibility, elevating Georgia Tech to national prominence as a leader in sustainable campus development and environmental stewardship, consistently recognized by the Princeton Review, AASHE, USGBC, Tree Campus USA and the Sierra Club
- Identified change management opportunity to improve institutional effectiveness and innovation through collaboration with the provost, registrar and other senior institutional leaders to extend formal teaching and learning hours from 8:00am - 8:45pm, which will yield improved classroom utilization, leveraging facility resources more efficiently and effectively, while saving the Institute millions of dollars by not having to construct new instructional facilities
- Introduced new paradigm for office design of 3 significant capital projects by flipping the office allocation from 80% enclosed offices / 20% open offices to 80% open offices / 20% enclosed offices, reducing overall square foot assignment per person and improving overall space utilization
- Established a new model for laboratory design to improve scientific discovery, space utilization and energy performance for the 220,000 sf LEED Platinum Krone Engineered Biosystems Building which is designed to advance biomedicine and biosciences, bringing together researchers from different disciplines while elevating the understanding of living systems and bring about new cures for cancer, diabetes and other chronic disease in partnership with Children's Healthcare of Atlanta and Emory University School of Medicine. The building was recognized by the AIA Committee on the Environment as one of the Top Ten sustainable buildings in 2018.
- Developed strategic partnerships and long-term mutually beneficial relationships across the Institute to break down silos, improving communications, collaborations and decision making in the relentless pursuit of institutional effectiveness
- Developed and curated a first-ever 15-piece sculpture exhibit titled "Engineered Art: An International Sculpture Exhibit at Georgia Tech"; spearheaded the acquisition of a bronze sculpture of Albert Einstein by sculptor Robert Berks (1 of 3 in the world; the other 2 are located in Washington DC and Jerusalem, Israel) and several other significant public art installations

Why are you interested in serving on a board / commission / committee?
We're a military family and we moved to Dunwoody almost 13 years ago. We relocated shortly before Dunwoody became a city and I've seen so much growth. I would love to contribute and give back to the community that has embraced my family and my business.
What experience do you possess that would be of benefit to a board / commission / committee?
I would really enjoy working with my Dunwoody peers to develop visual arts in our community. I've worked with "food art" for the past 7 years through my home baking studio. This has given me the opportunity to work with many vendors throughout the Atlanta area.
I enjoy working with a team to create a cohesive vision for events. I hope to contribute any skills that I have learned to the Art Commission.
